Preparing the

Eagle to Soar!

What is EAGLE VOYAGE

An Articulation agreement has been created to allow for a smooth transition while maximizing allowable transfer credit for those interested in transferring into NCCU's online program.

We understand that transitioning from a community college to a university can be a daunting process. By creating an articulation agreement we hope to ensure a successful transition from Associate's to Bachelor's degree programming.

The articulation clearly outlines which Vance-Granville Community College courses will transfer to North Carolina Central University. It also maps out the remaining courses needed to complete a Bachelor's of Science degree.

To assist students interested in transferring to NCCU a dedicated NCCU Academic Advisor has been assigned to the Eagle Voyage Educational Partnership. Keana Williams has an office on the Vance-Granville Community College Main Campus.

She is available to assist students with

- transfer course selection
- degree program information
- preliminary transfer assessment
- application process
- orientation
- advising and
- registration

You can connect with Ms. Williams in the following ways.

BENEFITS

Your success is our priority.

EAGLE VOYAGE WAS DESIGNED WITH THE NON-TRADITIONAL STUDENT IN MIND.

Course Schedule

We developed the community college partnership course schedule with the non-traditional student in mind.

- To alleviate the stress of changing schedules each term, our accelerated course sequence is established for the entire program.
- 8-week mini-sessions have been built into the schedule to assist students with balancing work, school, and life.
- NCCU courses within the accelerated sequence are reserved for those in the partnership. So students don't have to worry about closed courses.

Length of Courses

Eagle Voyage offers courses in both 8-week and 16-week formats. By incorporating both formats students only take 3 courses at a time.

Example:

1st 8-Week Session
MATH 1110: Elementary Statistics (3 cr.)
MSCM 1250: Elements of Speech (3 cr.)

2nd 8-Week Session
SPAN 1191: Elementary Spanish I (3 cr.)
CRJU 3000: Criminal Justice Theory (3 cr.)

16-Week
Concentration Course (3 cr.)

Synchronous Component

We have designated three courses that will have a synchronous component,

- MATH 1110: Elementary Statistics,
- SPAN 1191: Elementary Spanish I,
- and SPAN 1192: Elementary Spanish II.

Course will be held virtually either on Tuesdays or Thursdays from 6:30-9 p.m.

Cohort Model

Students progress through the degree program as a cohort. The added benefits to the student include;

- shared learning experiences, increase motivation,
- build a professional network,
- sense of community,
- and group support.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Bachelor's of Science

Careers:

- State and federal law enforcement
- State and federal corrections
- Emergency management
- Risk management
- Private security
- Homeland security
- Customs and immigration
- Work in the court system

Curriculum and practice experiences are designed to help develop students and practitioners with critical and analytical skills to promote the administration of justice and crime prevention and control in a diverse and global society.

Our mission is to prepare students to become leaders, outstanding practitioners, scholars, and advocates for social justice in a diverse and global society. Curriculum and practice experiences challenge students to become critical and analytical consumers of information, advocates for social justice, and promote the administration of justice, crime prevention, and crime control in a diverse and global society.

The curriculum through both classroom and field experience is designed to provide students with a familiarity of the criminal justice system, the theories underlying criminal behavior, and the research methodology required to analyze current criminal justice issues.

Criminal Justice

CONCENTRATION OPTIONS

One of the Criminal Justice degree requirements includes 12 credits from one of three concentration options listed below. Students will need to select one of the following:

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Emphasizes theoretical and practical issues related to law enforcement. Coursework focuses on the history of law enforcement, investigative techniques, management, constitutional rights, public policy, comparative law enforcement, and contemporary issues. Possible careers include police officer, deputy sheriff, state and federal law enforcement, private security, and law school.

CRJU 2500 – Criminal Investigation and Forensic Science Application (3) An examination of criminal investigation fundamentals including crime scene search, collection and preservation of evidence, interviews, interrogation, case preparation, and the familiarization with specific instrumentation in crime detection and evidence selection for evidentiary value. Prerequisites: CRJU 2350

CRJU 4150 – Police Management Theory (3) An advanced course focusing on management theories, current management systems, supervision, and supervisory principles as applied to police administration. This course examines leadership skills, planning and implementation, decision-making, and creative problem-solving for the police administrator. Prerequisites: CRJU 2350

CRJU 4630 – Law Enforcement Theory, Policy, and Practice (3) This course will serve as a capstone course for the law enforcement concentration. Students will demonstrate their knowledge of theory, policy, and practice in law enforcement through their participation in a project that addresses a contemporary issue in law enforcement. Best practices in law enforcement will also be discussed. Prerequisites: CRJU 2350, CRJU 2500, CRJU 4150, CRJU 4250

CRJU 4250 – Criminal Law for Criminal Justice Personnel (3) A course designed to provide a basic concept of criminal law and to provide the legal groundwork for those who seek to enter the criminal justice system. The structure, definitions, and interpretations of the most frequently used criminal statutes and the purpose of criminal sanctions will be analyzed. Prerequisites: CRJU 2350

Continued

CORRECTIONS

Emphasizes theoretical and practical issues related to corrections. Coursework focuses on the history of corrections, administration, community corrections, counseling and management in prisons and jails, comparative corrections, and contemporary issues. Possible careers include corrections officers, case management, probation, and parole officers.

CRJU 2470 - Jail Policy and Practice (3) An analysis of jail policy and practices from both historical and contemporary perspectives. Specific attention will be devoted to jail administrative and staff demands as well as legislative and policy issues, fiscal constraints, special populations and best practices for the management of jail facilities.

CRJU 4160 - Correctional Counseling (3) An overview and survey of counseling and rehabilitation approaches that are relevant to contemporary corrections. Techniques will be examined in the use of treatment, counseling, and rehabilitative practices. Prerequisites: CRJU 2450

CRJU 2510 - Corrections in the Community (3) This course examines the historical development of probation, parole, and community-based alternatives. Emphasis will be placed on community-based programs that can be a viable alternative to prison and the re-entry of ex-offenders in their communities.

CRJU 4620 - Correctional Theory, Policy and Practice (3) This course will serve as a capstone course for the correction concentration. Students will demonstrate their knowledge of theory, policy, and practice in corrections through their participation in a project that addresses a contemporary issue in corrections. Best practices in corrections will also be discussed. Prerequisites: CRJU 2450, CRJU 2470, CRJU 2510, CRJU 4160

Emphasizes theoretical and practical issues related to homeland security. Coursework focuses on the development of homeland security, domestic and international terrorism, legal and public policy concerns connected to homeland security, emergency management, and contemporary issues. Possible careers include federal law enforcement, emergency management, state and local law enforcement.

HLS 3000 - Introduction to Homeland Security (3) This course is designed to introduce the student to the scope of issues facing the American public, the private sector and law enforcement on securing the country against threats posed by domestic and international terrorist groups. Threats to American interests abroad will also be analyzed.

HLS 3500 - Infrastructure Protection (3) This course is designed to familiarize the student with the principles of Homeland Security infrastructure protection as outlined in presidential directives, executive orders and federal and state law, court opinions, regulations, policies, and procedures.

HLS 3200 - Emergency Management and Recovery (3) This course exposes students to emergency management, mitigation, preparedness, response, and recovery. The course concentrates on the recovery phase, which involves bringing the affected area back to status quo and explores how mitigation for the next event ties in with recovery. Included is a discussion of eminent domain in the disaster recovery context as well as the roles of federal, state, and local governments.

HLS 4640 - Homeland Security Theory, Policy and Practice (3) This course will serve as a capstone course for the homeland security concentration. Students will demonstrate their knowledge of theory, policy, and practice in homeland security through their participation in a project that addresses a contemporary issue in homeland security. Best practices in homeland security will also be discussed. Prerequisites: HLS 3000, HLS 3200, HLS 3500

EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION Bachelor's of Science

Careers:

- Private and Public Preschool and Kindergarten Settings
- Head Start Programs
- Childcare Centers
- Home-Based Early Intervention Services
- Child Care Resources and Referral Agencies
- High-Quality Early Childhood Education Programs
- University-Based Education Programs

The Early Childhood Education (Birth through Kindergarten Licensure) BS prepares students for teacher licensure and a teaching career with children from birth through five years in inclusive settings, serving both typically and atypically developing young children and their families.

A Bachelor of Science Degree in Early Childhood Education provides an opportunity to apply for a North Carolina teaching license. This program prepares students to work professionally with children ages birth through kindergarten who are both typically developing and those at- risk for or diagnosed with a disability. Students in this field of study learn about the foundations and theories related to child development and become proficient at creating learning environments that foster children's development, selecting materials and implementing pedagogy that embraces best practices, incorporating technology into the curriculum, creating anti-biased and multicultural classroom environments, and involving families in their children's education.
